BOY ACCIDENTLY SHOT AT FRANCIS

Friday afternoon Otto Doner, a boy twelve or thirteen years of age, was accidentally shot and dangerously wounded by Cenal Hardberger, near Francis. The boys were out hunting and the target rifle in the hands of the Hardberger boy was in some way discharged. The bullet struck the Doner boy in the left groin, passing through the bladder. He was rushed to Sherman on the night passenger train which usually stops over at Francis. The wounded boy is the son of A. Doner a well known business man at Francis. The other boy is the son of one of the switchmen employed in the Frisco yards at Francis.

FRANK SCRIBNER'S BONDSMEN RELEASED

Today in district court Judge McKeown rendered his decision in the suit against the bondsmen of Frank Scribner declaring said bond defective and therefore void. He had given the case a long and thorough investigation and found the law and decisions in favor of the bondsmen.

Scribner was under charge of complicity in the killing of his wife, Lillie Scribner, near Stonewall in 1909, and disappeared just before the time set for trial of his case and suit was brought on his bond. Judge West had fixed the amount of said bond at $5,000. Scribner was released on one for $5,000 and there was no record of any order reducing it. The statutes provide that a bond in a capital case must be approved by the district judge.

NEWS FORECAST FOR THE COMING WEEK

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—The trial of the so-called Diggs-Caminetti white slave case, the postponement of which resulted in the resignation of United States District Attorney McNab of San Francisco and his charges that influence had been brought to bear upon Attorney General McReynolds to delay the trial, is scheduled to begin Tuesday before Judge William C. Van Fleet in the United States district court at San Francisco.

Beginning at midnight Sunday and continuing through the week, the Long Island Sound and Narragansett Bay region will be the scene of the most extensive joint naval and army defense exercises that have been held in some years. Vessels of the Atlantic fleet and the artillery corps of the New York and New England districts will engage in a series of maneuvers for the purpose of working out important problems of coast defense. The highest officers of the army and navy will witness the exercises.

Following a rather tame campaign, the Democrats of Virginia will engage in a primary Tuesday for the purpose of selecting candidates for governor and other state officers to be voted for in November. H. C. Stuart, of Russell county, is the only candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, and several other candidates on the ticket will be named without opposition. The principal contests are for the nominations for lieutenant governor and attorney general.

Several thousand eminent leaders of medical science from all parts of the world will assemble in London the middle of the week for the seventeenth meeting of the International Congress of Medicine. Another notable gathering of worldwide character will be the International Geological Congress, which is to begin its sessions Thursday in Toronto.

Numerous other important gatherings are scheduled for the week. Among them will be the national convention of the Knights of Columbus, in Boston; the national convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union, in Philadelphia; the international convention of the Catholic Order of Foresters, in Louisville; the national meeting of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, in Baltimore, the annual meeting of the League of American Municipalities, in Winnipeg, the annual meeting of the United States League of Building and Loan Associations, in Milwaukee, the Western Canada Irrigation congress, in Lethbridge, and the annual meeting of the Canadian division of the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, in Montreal.

Other interesting events of the week will include the Perry centennial celebration at Milwaukee, the "Stampede" carnival at Winnipeg, the national rowing championships at Boston, and the international track and field championships of the Pacific coast, at Victoria, B. C.

Washington, Aug. 2.—The condition of the growing cotton crop of the United States on July 25 was 79.6 per cent of a normal, compared with 81.8 per cent on June 25, 1913, 76.5 per cent on July 25, 1912, 89.1 per cent on July 25, 1911, and 80.0 per cent, the average on July 25 of the past ten years, according to the third cotton condition report of the season issued at noon today by the crop reporting bureau of statistics, department of agriculture, and estimated cotton reports of its correspondents and agents.

The area planted to cotton this year as previously reported by the department of agriculture in its preliminary estimate is about 35,622,000 acres, or 2.5 per cent more than the 34,766,000 acres planted last year. The Oklahoma condition is reported at 81 per cent, as compared with 80 in 1912, 88 in 1911 and a ten-year average of 81. The acreage as compared with last year is 107 per cent.

SMALL SIZED BATTLE AT GETTYSBURG

Gettysburg, Pa., July 2.—Seven men were stabbed tonight in the dining room of the Gettysburg hotel as the result of a fight which started when several men aroused the anger of an old veteran in blue by abusing Lincoln. Several of the wounded men are in a serious condition at the Pennsylvania State Hospital. The state constabulary are making desperate efforts to find the men who did the stabbing.

The wounded men were: Edward J. Carroll, sergeant of the quartermaster's corps, U. S. A.

David Farbor of Butler, Pa., member of the state constabulary.

John D. Maugin, Harrisburg.

Malcolm Griffin of Bedford City, Pa.

Charles Sulzer of West Fairview, Pa.

Hayder Reniesbecker, Gettysburg.

Henry A. Wood Jr., Harrisburg.

Farber, Maugin and Griffin are in the most serious conditions. Surgeons at the Pennsylvania State Hospital would not venture predictions as to their chance of recovery.

According to all the information the authorities could gather, the fight began about 7 o'clock, when the dining room was full of people, and caused a panic among the scores of guests.

The veteran, who was unhurt, and disappeared in the melee, was sitting near Farber and Carroll, when he heard the slighting remarks about Lincoln, and berated his detractors.

The men who were stabbed, according to the information the surgeons gathered, jumped to the defense of the veteran when the others closed in. Knives were drawn, but the melee ended before the rest of the men in the room could interfere or capture the men responsible for it.

The constabulary later arrested a man who gave the name of W. B. Henry and said his home was in Camden, N. J., as one of the men concerned in the affray.

SULZER SAYS SUIT IS A PUT UP JOB

Gettysburg, Pa., July 2.—Gov. William Sulzer of New York this afternoon issued a statement in connection with the breach of promise suit filed against him yesterday in Philadelphia. The statement says in part: "There is nothing in it I am afraid of. The whole thing looks like a poor conspiracy and seems to be stale and fishy. It is instigated by my political enemies and is a part of the plot of Boss Murphy and his political congo forward without fear, come what they all to do their worst. I shall go forward without fear, come what may. I never did a think in my life of which I am ashamed."

Gov. Sulzer says he knew Miss Hopkins years ago; that he was a friend of her family, but he denied emphatically that he ever agreed to marry her. He continues: "Miss Hopkins sued me in New York for breach of promise some time after I married, about six years ago. She could not sustain her charges. That case was settled and my lawyer has a general release from her to me. My reason for settling then was on account of the precarious condition of Mrs. Sulzer."

The amendment to Sec. 9, Art. IX is one in which partisan politics has never entered. Both Democratic and Republican papers have advocated it because all have seen the injury worked on the state by the provision as it now stands. It has been fought out strictly on its merits.

No place in Oklahoma is more vitally concerned in the adoption of the amendment to Sec. 9, Art. IX of the constitution than Ada. Therefore, it is up to the citizenship of this place to muster a good strong vote Tuesday. With the Oklahoma Central as a paying feeder for the Santa Fe Ada would be placed on the map stronger than ever. Three trunk lines would certainly look good to us.

The McAlester News-Capital, which has been Republican in politics for many years, has been sold to J. Roy Williams of Lawton, who will make it Democratic in politics. We wish Mr. Williams all the success he merits—and that is unbounded. However, we shall miss the crisp editorial sallies of Henry Robbins which have been read with keen interest every day.

The News had not fully decided how to vote on the question of reducing the agricultural board of the state from eleven to five members until the attempt was made to prevent holding any election at all next Tuesday. That showed up the bunch opposing the reduction as nothing else could have done and as for ourselves we shall vote for the amendment. Evidently a negro of good big proportions was haunting a nearby woodpile.

VOTE "YES" ON RAILROAD AMENDMENT.

It is to be doubted if the citizens of Oklahoma will have put up to them at any time in the future any public question of more vital import than the one demanding determination at their hands Tuesday, Aug. 5.

In the history of the state to this date there has been no question advanced which has comprised within the effects of its solution more momentous ends in the industrial and commercial concerns of our people than the railroad amendment to the constitution upon which votes will be cast that day. To neglect to act upon it is to fail in a duty and forego a privilege.

Without imputing a fault to anyone or raising a question as to motives, it is evident to all that the marvelous

GARDEN OF EDEN LOCATED

English Engineer Satisfied That He Has Found Biblical Spot Hidden in Turkish Arabia.

Forty miles west of old Bagdad, in the vast level valley of the historic Euphrates, near Hit, of the Hittites, lies the traditional Garden of Eden. Such is the interesting conclusion of Sir William Willcocks, the famous Egyptian engineer and Bible student, and many other authorities agree with him.

"Out of Eden came a river which watered a garden, and from thence it was parted and became four rivers." And these four rivers, known in Bible days as the Pison, Gihon, Hiddekel and Euphrates—the ancient "River of Babylon"—have been identified by Sir William.

It was while studying, surveying and mapping Chaldea previous to starting work on the giant irrigation scheme planned for Mesopotamia, that Willcocks became convinced that the real Garden of Eden lay in the region described.

The Garden of Eden lies away over in Turkish Arabia, too far from the beaten tourist trail to draw many sightseers. Probably not a dozen white travelers see it in a whole year. To reach Chaldea the safest and surest route lies through the Suez, over Pharaoh's bones in the Red sea, through the straits of Babel-Mandeb, up the hot Persian gulf, and thence 500 miles along the winding Tigris and Euphrates.

REVEL IN BUTTONS OF PEARL

London Costermongers Probably Wear Most Unique Costume of All Civilized Peoples.

Fashions come and go, but the London costermonger still delights to have pearl buttons fastened to his outward clothing; and the man who can boast that he has more buttons to display than his neighbors claims to be the "pearly king" of his district.

Bank holidays and donkey shows, such as those organized by the Dumb Animals league, gives the pearly kings the opportunity to appear in all their glory and sometimes they exhibit delicate patterns woven in pearl upon their full-skirted coats and their bell-mouthed trousers.

One man at a recent show had what was considered to be "a wery saucy" design in a whip of green buttons running through a horse-shoe of white buttons, but the man who lays claim to the homage due to a king does not often waste time in pretty designs. He simply has his clothes covered with buttons, sewn as close as the scales of a fish, and he treats the clothes of his wife and children in a similarly improving way. Of this class is the "king" who boasts a total of 60,000 buttons on his coat alone.

HORSE NOT YET EXTINGUISHED.

To show that there is still room for the horse in spite of the automobile, it has been figured that last year 110,000,000 horseshoes were put out in this country. From 1900 to 1910 the number of horses here increased from 13,000,000 to 21,000,000, and their value, per head, rose from $42 to $96. It is estimated the number of work horses increased 465,000 last year.

READY FOR

DIGGS-CAMINETTI TRIAL

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 2.—Everything is in readiness for the beginning of the trial on Monday of the celebrated Diggs-Caminetti white slave case, which developed into a cause celebre when it was made the medium for an attack on the official conduct of Attorney General McReynolds and incidentally involved the Wilson administration in criticism. The fact that the Republican members of the House of Representatives are expected to bring the case up for debate at the first opportunity will cause the trial to be followed with additional interest.

The case had its beginning last March, when Drew Caminetti and Maury Diggs, the defendants, are alleged to have eloped with Marsha Warrington and Lola Norris, two high school fraternity girls of Sacramento. The elopement led to the arrest and indictment of the two young men on charges of white slavery.

The case attracted considerable attention at the time because of the prominence of the defendants' families. Diggs is a nephew of Marshall Diggs, once a member of California's senate, a man of wealth and strong political connections. The younger Diggs was state architect until recently and lived in Sacramento. He is twenty-seven years old and has had the reputation of being a "high roller."

Caminetti is the son of A. Caminetti, former state senator, and recently appointed commissioner of immigration of President Wilson. Drew Caminetti, the defendant, was a non-commissioned officer of the National Guard of California and was a clerk in the office of the State board of control until March 8 last. He is twenty-seven years old.

Diggs and Caminetti have long been intimate friends. Both are married and have families.

Under the names of Fisher and Whitman, it is alleged that Diggs and Caminetti began to court the Norris and Warrington girls last winter. Finally things went so far that when the real identity of the men was discovered by the girls the relations of the four did not break off. It was after this that the plan to leave the city began to take shape—the journey that was to land the two couples in the federal net under the white slave law.

Once upon the train, the girls gave themselves up to the plans for the elopement and ceased to rebel. The four traveled in one stateroom. On arrival at Reno, Nev., in early morning the party went to a hotel. Four days later the two couples were arrested living together in a bungalow at Reno.

All Sacramento was aroused over the elopement and fearing possible violence, Diggs and Caminetti were smuggled into the city in automobiles upon their return. A mob waited for them at the railway station, but the police succeeded in protecting the two men.

United States District Attorney John L. McNab went to Sacramento and made a personal investigation of every feature of the case. After the two were indicted on charges of white slavery leading citizens all over the state appealed to the district attorney to take early action on the case.

The case was put on the calendar of May 19, ready to be set for trial in June. Thereafter it was postponed from time to time until matters were brought to a head on June 23 by the resignation of District Attorney McNab. In telegraphing his resignation to President Wilson Mr. McNab said:

"I am ordered by the Attorney General over my protest to postpone until autumn the trials of Maury Diggs and Drew Caminetti, indicted for a hideous crime which has shocked the moral sense of the people of California, and this after I have advised the Department of Justice that attempts have been made to corrupt the government witnesses, and friends of the defendants are publicly boasting that the wealth and political prominence of the defendants' relatives will procure my hand to be stayed through influence at Washington."

Attorney General McReynolds and Secretary of Labor Wilson, the latter brought into the case by the fact that the elder Caminetti, as commissioner of immigration, was one of his subordinate officials, denied that any influence had been brought to bear upon them to obtain a postponement of the Diggs-Caminetti trials. President Wilson thereupon accepted the McNab resignation.

It was expected that Thomas E. Hayden, associate counsel for the government in the Diggs-Caminetti cases would lead in the prosecution. Learning of protests that he was too inexperienced as a criminal lawyer to participate in the case, Mr. Hayden tendered his resignation to Attorney General McReynolds. The case will now be prosecuted by Attorneys Sullivan and Roche, the government's principal counsel.

Move on Coast Defenses.

New York, Aug. 2.—Governors Island, the headquarters of the Eastern Division of the United States Army, was a beehive of activity today. Everyone there, from Major Gen. Thomas H. Barry, the commander of the division, down to the humblest private, being occupied in the arrangement of the final preparations for participation in the joint naval and army defense exercises to be held in the coast defenses of Long Island Sound next week, beginning at midnight tomorrow night.

The joint exercises are to be the most extensive held in this section since 1905. Troops have been mobilized from the artillery districts of Eastern and Southern New York, Narragansett and Boston. The navy will be represented in the maneuvers by practically the entire Atlantic fleet, as well as several flotillas of destroyers.

The war game will not be played with an idea of seeing whether the coast defenses or the navy will come out victorious. The rival forces will be used merely to test certain problems of defense. With this end in view there will be searchlight maneuvers with other exercises to demonstrate the efficiency of fire control and fire action. It is expected that the exercises will be especially valuable in showing improved methods which have been evolved since the exercises in 1905.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, South Bend, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

Where Do You Shop?

Do you shop in a brisk, active store, or in a dull store? Advertising makes bright stores. Failure to advertise goes hand in hand with dullness and stagnation.

Advertising brushes away cobwebs and dust, smartens windows, quickens the intelligence of salesman, and lets in the sunlight.

Advertising makes the merchant think of you—of your wants and needs; makes him anxious to serve you to your liking and advantage.

Advertising keeps stock form having birthdays.

Advertising acquaints you with new things, and so brightens your home, your life, your person.

Advertising keeps a business from growing lazy and stupid. Advertising injects good red blood into the arteries of business, and keeps it healthful and active.

Smile back at the shop which smiles at you. Shake hands with it—keep company with it—your favor will be returned to you tenfold.

For the Cause of Home Rule.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 2.—Measures for sustaining the Irish parliamentary party and its leader, John Redmond, in the closing stages of the home rule struggle, will be discussed by the national executive committee of the United Irish League of America at an important meeting in this city tomorrow. National President Michael J. Ryan of Philadelphia is here to attend the meeting, together with Patrick Egan, former United States Minister to Chile, and a number of other noted leaders of the Irish cause. The principal object of the meeting is to devise ways and means by which the Irish party may be sustained financially as well as morally in the final stage of the Home Rule fight. As a result of plans to be formulated at the meeting, it is expected that $10,000 will be raised to aid the cause. The meeting also will map out a program of mass meetings to be held in every large city of the United States.

THE FIVE QUESTIONS

BALLOT TITLES OF MEASURES SUBMITTED TO VOTERS OF OKLAHOMA.

That the voters may have a better idea of the gist of the five questions that will be voted on Tuesday the News reproduces the sample ballot now in circulation. The second question is not stated very clearly. The substance of Sec. 18 of the mining law, which is sought to be repealed is the one prescribing the method of mining coal and is bitterly opposed by the miners. The remainder of the law stands as passed by the legislature.

State Question No. 46. Issued by Order of the Legislature. Shall Section 9, Article IX, State Constitution be Amended? Gist of Amendment:

"Any foreign or domestic railroad, transportation, or transmission company, or corporation, may lease, sell or otherwise dispose of its property and franchises to, or may lease, buy or otherwise acquire the property and franchise of any like company, or corporation.

"This amendment is not operative until the consent of the Corporation Commission to the proposed transfer is first given in writing and the legislature may impose other restrictions on the right to consolidate."

Shall it be adopted? Yes. No.

State Question No. 47. Proposed by Referendum Petition No. 19.

"The gist of the proposition is to veto section eighteen of an act of the Oklahoma Legislature, passed and approved at its fourth regular session, entitled:

"An act to promote the health and safety of employees in Coal Mines; prescribing the qualifications for Mine Inspectors; providing for a system of mine telephones, and for the construction and maintenance of bath houses for the use of miners; prohibiting any interference, or attempt to interfere, with the Fire Boss in the performance of his duties; prescribing penalties for the violations of any of the provisions thereof, and repealing certain statutes in conflict."

Shall it be repealed? Yes. No.

State Question No. 57. Issued by order of the Legislature.

The gist of the amendment is to provide that all taxes levied for the maintenance of the common schools of this state upon the property of any railroad company, pipe line or telegraph company, or of any other public service corporation which operates in more than one county in this state, shall be paid into the common school fund and distributed as a part of said fund."

Shall it be adopted? Yes. No.

State Question No. 58. Issued by order of the Legislature.

"The gist of the proposition is to amend the constitution of the State by the adoption of an additional section providing for the calling of an election in any county upon a petition signed by sixteen percentum of the total votes cast at the last general election for the county office receiving the highest number of votes to abolish or establish township government therein."

Shall it be adopted? Yes. No.

State Question No. 60. Issued by order of the Legislature.

"The gist of the proposition is to create a new board of agriculture of five instead of eleven members and to repeal all that portion of section thirty-one of article six of the constitution except the first subdivision thereof, that is, to repeal all that portion dealing with any matter except the number and qualification as members of the board of agriculture and prescribing their jurisdiction and duties."

Shall it be adopted? Yes. No.

MINISTER HAS PRIZE YARN

South African Clergyman Declares He Possesses a Spider That Catches Fish.

This is not a nature-fake story or a fisherman's yarn; it is an authenticated account of actual facts, reported by a minister in South Africa to London Nature, says the Pathfinder. He relates how he caught a large spider, whose outstretched legs covered a space about three inches in diameter. He took this spider home and placed it near his aquarium, in which he had a number of small fish. What was his surprise shortly to find that Mr. Spider was sitting up on his hind legs on the edge of the aquarium, complacently holding a little fish four times his own weight in his paws and munching away at it with great gusto. The spider continued to eat till nothing was left of the fish but the backbone.

The minister then made it a point to watch the spider and his patience was rewarded by seeing him later in the very act of fishing. The insect spread his legs out over the water in a sprawling position and waited for his prey.

THE NOVELTY GONE

Wife—You don't love me any more.

Hubby—What's the matter now? Wife—You don't seem half as anxious to beat the rugs as you were a year ago.

LOVE STORY FROM SCOTLAND.

There is a human touch about this simple little story. It comes from Scotland, and is not an invention. To the minister came one of his flock, with doleful face and in his best "blacks," to announce that his wife was dead. He was dismissed with words of sympathy. A few weeks later he told his spiritual adviser he had found a suitable woman as housekeeper, and was congratulated. A year passed, and once again the bereaved man called. "I just dropped in," he said, "to tell ye that I'm no weel enough off to run to a housekeeper, so I'll have to marry the woman."

LIKED THE TREATMENT.

A slater who was engaged upon the roof of a house in Glasgow fell down the ladder and lay in an unconscious state upon the pavement. One of the pedestrians in the street who rushed to the aid of the poor man chanced to have a flask of spirits in his pocket, and, to revive him, began to pour a little down his throat.

"Canny, mon, canny," said a man looking on, "or you'll choke him."

The "unconscious" slater opened his eyes and said quietly:

"Pour awa', pour awa'; ye're doin' fine."—Ottawa Journal.

GOOD CLASS OF PEASANTRY.

"You have a beautiful manor house, but you ought to have a little village for the peasantry; as we do in England. It adds to the landscape."

"All right," said the multimillionaire, "but it must be a restricted affair. No peasant admitted earning less than $5,000 a year."

RARE DECLARATION.

"Here's a story about a man who married on a salary of $60 a week."

"Well, what of it?"

"He's drawing $125 a week now, and declares he is saving as much money, if not more, as when he was only getting $60."—St. Louis Republic.

TOURISTS IN THE DESERT.

"What is that smoke?"

"Indians signaling."

"I wish we could reply to them; but we have no wood."

"Call Algy. I think we can make an effective smudge with one of his Turkish cigarettes."

LOOKED LIKE SPOT TO HIM

American Travelling Through Germany Rebuffs Official Collector.

Before Bismarck reconstructed the map of Europe and made a united Germany, a score of little principalities used to annoy travelers by stopping them on the frequently occurring frontiers until the demands of the custom house were satisfied.

An American once had his carriage stopped at the border of such a principality, according to the Weekly Telegraph. The Herr Ober-controller at the custom house came forward, and, much to his indignation, was received indifferently. The American was ungentlemanly enough not to get out of his carriage, or even to take off his hat.

The Herr Ober-Controller sharply demanded the keys of the tourist's trunks, which his subordinate began to handle roughly.

"Here, hands off!" shouted the American. "I didn't come from the United States of America to be bothered by you. Put those trunks back. I'll not go through you at all. I'll turn back. I'm in no hurry, and don't care if I do lose a day. You're no country—you're only a spot. I'll go round you." And he did.

NAPOLEON COWED BY MOTHER

Parent of Emperor Refused to Kiss His Proffered Hand and Insisted on Her Rights.

The relationship between Napoleon Bonaparte and his mother, the Mme. Mere of imperial times, was peculiar, says the Argonaut. Mme. Letizia, who was thirty-four when her famous son was born, had always been complete mistress of her household. Even when her son was emperor and his word was law, willing as she might have been in public to do him honor, in private she insisted on the privileges of her motherhood. Baron Larrey, in his historical essays, writes: "One day there was a family meeting and Napoleon gave his mother his hand to kiss; but Mme. Mere moved aside the proffered hand. Napoleon then took his mother's hand and kissed it, and she said to him: 'Sire, you know quite well that in public I must treat you with due respect, because I am your subject; but in private I am your mother.'"

HIS LEGACY.

A prominent congressman decided to turn over a part of his law practice to his son. Shortly afterwards the young man entered the office and with a face beaming with pleasure exclaimed:

"Father, you know that Wilbur case you'd been trying for the last ten years?"

The congressman admitted that he did.

"Well," said the young man triumphantly, "I've settled it!"

"Settled it?" reiterated his father. "Settled it! Why, my boy, I gave you that case as an annuity!"—Lippincott's.

THE LAST STRAW.

M. Leon Bakst, the famous Russian artist, is today a man of eminence, known wherever the Russian ballet is known, and is the much envied leader of a "school" of painters.

It must be remembered, however, that he did not win success in a day, but was painfully aware of what it meant to struggle against privation for many years. On one occasion he went five days without food. Then he found a penny at the corner of the Rue Notre Dame de Lorette, Paris. Timidly he entered a baker's shop—the coin was out of circulation.

A FALL DEFERRED.

"Pride goes before a fall." "The trouble is you have to wait too long. I have been waiting thirty years to see a certain proud man take a tumble, and nothing has happened to him yet."

A RANK OUTSIDER.

"Then the neighboring farmers do not take your garden seriously." "No," said the man who had moved to the country. "Not even their chickens will condescend to scratch in it."

AN IMITATION.

"I fear this vaudeville performer has no soul."

"Why not?"

"How could he have a soul when he makes a flute sound like a howling dog?"

Public Health Department

Conducted by Dr. J. C. Mahr
State Commissioner of Health

About the only Public Health legislation secured at the recent session of the legislature was an amendment, by Senator Roddie, added to the general appropriation bill, which provided for the purchase and distribution of biological products, known as curatives and preventives, in the treatment of diphtheria and meningitis, and for the pasteur treatment for hydrophobia, vaccine for smallpox and typhoid fever. These are to be distributed to the indigents of the state upon applications made to the State Commissioner of Health, and upon blanks prescribed by the State Board of Health.

Distributions are to be made through at least one drug store in every county, and for this purpose the legislature appropriated $7,500.

The Board of Health at the present time is busy making preparations and organizing the county machinery so as to make this available at as early a date as possible.

Doctors and Public Health Officers have known for a long time that diphtheria was common to all classes yet our earliest cases during an epidemic, as a rule, happen among those who are not able to purchase antitoxin. The Doctor, or the Health Officer, is not able to furnish the antitoxin for the purpose of treating these cases, render the other members of the family immune and thereby hold the disease in check.

This appropriation is very small for the purpose, yet if properly used it should render a great deal of good.

By the time the next legislature convenes we ought to be able to show the great amount of benefit derived from this appropriation, and secure further appropriations that will be adequate.

In the state of Missouri for the treatment of hog cholera, it is claimed, they appropriated $100,000. This amount would furnish antitoxin free for every case of diphtheria in the state of Oklahoma. Surely the number of persons who die from this disease each year, who could be saved through the use of antitoxin, should be worth equally as much to the state as the number of hogs that die of hog cholera.

We never knew a man to have a child sick with diphtheria and in danger of dying from the disease, but what he would willingly sacrifice every hog that he had if it would save the child.

The State Health Department continues to receive reports of individuals bitten by rabid dogs and applications for help from all portions of the state. Within a few days we will be in a position to furnish and administer the Pasteur treatment to the indigents of the state upon application. Arrangements are now being made looking to that end.

The State Health Department will designate one drug store in every county as a Board of Health station where free antitoxins can be had for the indigents. This station will carry a full line of biological products, furnished free by the state, for the use of indigents. Designated drug stores will be required to furnish a guarantee that these products will be handled in a proper manner. Drug stores will be selected from among those who are conveniently located and of easy access to the greatest number of people. None other than legitimate drug stores will be considered.
